Working Title: 2013 Endourology Fellow

Official title: CLINICAL INSTRUCTOR(D54NN)

Degree and area of specialization: MD specializing in Urology

License/certification: WI medical license or eligible for Board Certified or eligible for

Minimum number of years and type of relevant work experience: Completion of approved residency program in Urology

Principal duties: The Endourology Program at the University of Wisconsin-Madison is an Endourology Society accredited fellowship. The fellowship program was started by Dr. Stephen Nakada in 2002. The fellowship is currently a two-year program, with both a clinical and academic focus.

During the course of their clinical training, our fellows gain broad experience in endourology, laparoscopy, robotics, and percutaneous surgery. The full range of minimally-invasive therapies for kidney tumors are explored, including laparoscopic/robotic partial nephrectomy, radical nephrectomy, and percutaneous and laparoscopic ablation. Primary clinical duties include provision of care to urologic surgery patients at UWHC, Department of Surgery.

All endourology fellows have dedicated research time and a dedicated research lab, including access to a PhD. The expectation of the fellow is that he or she complete a basic science project, as well as all of the appropriate Endourology Society fellowship requirements. Fellows also have access to a brand new, state-of-the-art Simulation Center to develop their laparoscopic skills as well as for potential investigations. A fully equipped animal laboratory is also available.

Our fellows also are involved in clinical and teaching exercises associated with our residency program as the fellowship regulations allow. Teaching duties include formal and clinical education of residents and participation in student teaching within the scope of the clinical practice.

Additional Information: There is the possibility that this appointment may be extended for one additional year.

International Medical Graduates: To be eligible to apply for a clinical fellowship at the University of Wisconsin, International Medical Graduates must meet the following requirements:

* Be able to obtain an unrestricted medical license from the State of Wisconsin
* Be eligible for an H-1B visa or have already obtained permanent residency or naturalization

PLEASE NOTE: J-1 visa's are not permitted for clinical work at UW-Madison at this time.
